Content Outline

Rachel Nitzsche
11/7/18

Selkies

I want to build the site as a long scrolling page that starts out light blue and changes to dark blue the further down the page you scroll, like descending in to the sea. I'll put a scroll to top button at the bottom. I think having page navigation stuck at the top that would scroll to different parts of the page when clicked would be cool too, but that might be too complicated. In terms of imagery, there are tons of drawings and paintings of selkies out there to use.

- Section 1/ home – Intro to selkies- content from the top part of the wiki page that gives the reader basic knowledge about what selkies are before the page launches into info about legends and folktales
- Section 2/ Origins

- Section 3/ Scottish legend

- Section 4/ Orkney & Shetland & Icelandic tales

- Section 5/ References – only need these for the parts of the article used